The Kiwanis Club of Surf City, at its regular breakfast meeting on June 9 at DeLaveaga Golf Club, celebrated the 50th anniversary of the club charter. It formed June 8, 1961.

The club's sole remaining charter member, Darrell Kirchner, talked about what life was like in Santa Cruz back in 1961 and the community work that the club's 41 original members undertook.

New Leaf supports Marine Sanctuary Center

New Leaf Community Markets donated 5 percent of its sales on May 26 to the new Monterey Bay National Marine Sanctuary Exploration Center that is being built opposite the Santa Cruz wharf. Center representatives were on hand at New Leaf stores in Santa Cruz and Capitola to inform the community about the new center. The center will provide state-of-the-art, interactive, interpretive exhibits on the Central Coast's ecosystem and submerged resources. The New Leaf Community Day effort raised $5,148 to donate to the center.

Women in business scholarships announced

The Santa Cruz Chamber of Commerce Women in Business Scholarships were awarded June 9.

This year's Cruzin Courses recipient is Jennifer Yeung, a Harbor High graduate planning to attend San Jose State in the fall. The Women in Business scholarship goes to Katya Birken, a re-entry student who will be entering her junior year at UC Santa Cruz, and Candice Peters, a Harbor High graduate who's planning to enter UC Davis in the fall.

B of A helps community

Bank of America has awarded Community Bridges $7,000 through the bank's local philanthropic giving program.
